September 2018

The City of Greenfield is located in Western Massachusetts just south of the Vermont border at the intersection of Rte. 2 and Interstate 91. Settled in 1686, it was incorporated in 1753 and serves as the county seat of Franklin County. It has a population of approximately 17,550 people according to the 2012 US Census. Greenfield is a growing city, having been chosen for tens of millions of dollars in new private and public investment.

In July 2018, The Massachusetts Board of Library Commissioners awarded the City of Greenfield a construction grant of $9,378,183. The Library has six (6) months to secure authorization for funding from the City Council. The expectation of the City is that the Project Manager will be able to assist in procuring the final design team and work with the Building Committee to develop a design that will fit downtown Greenfield and please the citizens and library patrons.

REQUEST FOR OWNER'S PROJECT MANAGEMENT SERVICES (RFS)

1. Introduction

The City of Greenfield, Massachusetts, ("Owner"), acting through its Purchasing Department is seeking the services of a qualified "Owner's Project Manager" (OPM) as defined in Massachusetts General Laws Chapter 149, Section 44A½ and as further defined by the provisions of this RFS, to provide Project Management Services for a library replacement project under the auspices of the Massachusetts Board of Library Commissioners.

Contrary to many municipalities in the Commonwealth, Greenfield is a growing city, having been chosen for tens of millions of dollars in new private and public investment. The Bank Row Urban Renewal Zone has turned historic downtown City buildings into new storefronts and loft apartments. New infrastructure includes a regional transit center with Amtrak service along the Burlington-New York-Washington corridor and a new $60M Franklin County Courthouse was completed in 2017.

2. History, Profile, and Organizational Structure of the City

The City of Greenfield is located in Western Massachusetts just south of the Vermont border at the intersection of Rte. 2 and Interstate 91. Settled in 1686, it was incorporated in 1753 and serves as the county seat of Franklin County. It has a population of approximately 17,550 people according to the 2012 US Census.

The City is governed under a home-rule charter, which vested executive Owner and responsibility in an elected Mayor, who serves a four-year term. Legislative Owner is vested in a 13-member Council of which nine members are elected from the City's nine precincts and four are elected at large. Members of the Council are elected every four years. A seven member School Committee is elected every three years and appoints the Superintendent of Schools, who has responsibility for the daily administration of the Greenfield Public Schools (K-12). The Mayor is also a member of the School Committee.

The City was the first of four municipalities in the state to be designated as a "Green Community" in recognition of reduced energy use, increased recycling, and environmental quality initiatives. The recent renovation of Greenfield Community College earned LEED gold certification and helped Massachusetts become a top state for energy efficient construction according to the U.S. Green Building Council. A Comprehensive Sustainable Master Plan, which demonstrates Greenfield's ongoing commitment to environmental and financial sustainability, was completed early in 2014.

In addition to its commitment to sustainability, Greenfield is also committed to providing play spaces, programs and special events for community residents. Recognizing that today's children spend less time playing outdoors than the children of any previous generation, the Greenfield Recreation Department pursues innovative and cost-effective strategies in an effort to combat the play deficit. In May 2014, in recognition of its efforts to increase play opportunities for children, Greenfield was designated a Playful City for the third year in a row.

The City's positive characteristics, as well as low housing prices, are attracting young people and families to Greenfield. From 2000 to 2010, overall population remained generally static in Franklin County, and the City of Greenfield experienced a small decrease in its total residential population. Despite this fact, members of the millennial generation are choosing to relocate to Greenfield. People between the ages of 25-44 made up 25% of the population in 2010, and then 28% in 2012.

Greenfield has a larger low income population than much of the surrounding area. Median household income in Greenfield ranks below that of both the county and state medians with per capita income similarly tracking lower than the county and state values. There is an elevated poverty rate in Greenfield (16.3%) compared to the state average (11%). The poverty rate is particularly high among families, with 58% of students in the Greenfield schools receiving free or reduced-rate lunch. As a result, there is a greater need for social services in Greenfield as compared to surrounding communities.

3. The Current Library Building

The Greenfield Public Library is located at the eastern end of City at 402 Main Street, on a 1.91 acre lot shared with the Greenfield Fire Department and a metered public parking lot. Also in the immediate vicinity are the US Post Office, the YMCA, and the Franklin County Courthouse.

The library resides in the historic Leavitt-Hovey House, a wooden structure built in 1797, with east and west wings added in 1817. The original building and the additions are the work of Asher Benjamin, a carpenter from the Greenfield area who became one of the best known architects of the early 19th century. In 1907, the City of Greenfield took the house and property by eminent domain to establish a public library. A 2,000-square-foot masonry addition designed to hold the adult book stacks was built to the north of the original building in 1908, and the Greenfield Public Library opened on January 11, 1909. In 1952, a bookmobile garage was added to the east wing. The building has been listed on the National Register of Historic Places since 1983. In 1998, the City of Greenfield entered into a Preservation Restriction Agreement for the Leavitt-Hovey House with the Massachusetts Historical Commission. The agreement limits exterior and interior renovation and states that the "preservation restrictions shall be for a period of perpetuity to the premises."

Over the years there have been ADA accessibility, HVAC, electrical, and plumbing upgrades as funding permitted. The building has also seen routine repairs but, with the exception of the bookmobile garage, there have been no significant additions or expansions to the 11,000 square foot structure since 1908.

Greenfield plans to build a new 26,800 square foot library that will acknowledge the city's place as the economic and cultural hub of Franklin County. It will include:

- Zero-step building entrances and a proliferation of parking spaces
- A 100-seat meeting room
- Five study rooms of various sizes
- 28 public computers
- Designated children's story time and activity areas
- A safe public place for teens
- Distribution of 120 seats throughout the building

A building program delineating the library needs of the Greenfield community was approved in 2014. Johnson Roberts Associates, the design firm selected by the Library Board of Trustees to help with planning and design, determined that the Building Program requirements could not be met efficiently by expanding the current facility. An analysis of potential sites for a new structure resulted in the decision to build the new library next to the Leavitt-Hovey House on a shared 1.91 acre lot owned by the city.

4. OPM Services

The OPM services will include all activities necessary or appropriate to efficiently manage the final design and construction phase of a new Greenfield Public Library, known herein as "the Project". The person or firm engaged by the Owner pursuant to this RFS will be responsible to and will provide services to the Owner. The OPM will work with the Owner's designees in performing services in connection with the construction phase of the grant.

The city's expectation is for the proposed services to be required through the completion of a new library. In July 2018, The Massachusetts Board of Library Commissioners awarded the City of Greenfield a construction grant of $9,378,183, but the final construction is contingent on the approval of the City Council for funding. The Building Committee has decided to request proposals from OPM firms and design firms for the construction grant phase.

Scope of Services:

The Owner's Project Manager will be responsible for providing the following services:

1. Assist in the preparation of the RFS for the selection of the architect/designer.
2. Assist the library in evaluating architect/designer proposals using designer selection procedures, determining interview techniques, and negotiating a contract with selected architect.

3. Oversee and review the architect’s work as it relates to the Library Building Program, the quality and efficiency of design, and preparation of architect’s schedules and cost estimates.
4. Define any conflicts in design with the Library Building Program and make recommendations to the architect and the Library Trustees and the Library Building Committee to resolve them.
5. Set a timeline and schedule for completing the project successfully through the Massachusetts Board of Library Commissioners Public Library Construction Grant Program.
6. Review architect’s invoices for services rendered and make recommendations for payment.
7. Review cost estimates and consider, evaluate and recommend value engineering and resource prioritization.
8. Review the schematic plans, evaluations and specifications for cost effectiveness, constructability issues, review for consistency of documents between overlapping trades, coordination, and compliance with the vision of the Library Building Program and the requirements of M.G.L. Chapter 149, Section 44A-M and all other applicable laws, codes, and regulations.
9. Attend periodic meetings (times to be determined) with the Library Trustees and/or designated committees to present reports on status of project and progress in meeting the desired schedule which will be agreed upon with the successful applicant.
10. Provide information and documents as requested by the Greenfield Public Library. The City of Greenfield is complying with the Massachusetts Board of Library Commissioners’ Public Library Construction Grant.
